Manager Commentary

LQ45 weakened by -5.97% in price return in May, following a fall of -6.01% in April. Foreign investors sold aggressively during the month, offloading USD881m of equities. Weakness in Rupiah, tight liquidity, weak 1Q earnings and US rate uncertainty all played a part in driving the outflows. Additionally, foreign investors used Indonesia to fund the rotation into China equities. The industrial sector faced immense selling pressure during the period as investors became more concerned on its earning outlook. Basic material counters, on the hand, bucked the market's weakness, rising strongly. Some of these names saw buying interests after being admitted to various index. On the macro front, Indonesia saw its April trade surplus narrowed slightly to USD3.6b as both exports and imports missed estimates. With that, 1Q24 balance of payment shrunk down from a USD8.6b surplus to a -USD6b deficit. Separately, inflation saw its lowest reading since February, declining -0.03% month-on-month (MoM). Bank Indonesia (BI) kept the benchmark rate at 6.25% while maintaining deposit rate and lending facility rate at 5.5% and 7% respectively. The Central Bank continues to emphasize the importance of currency stability and inflation management. Based on our market trend and fundamental assessment, the overall market outlook of Indonesian equities further deteriorated in early May. While it recovered mildly during late May, the market outlook remained in negative territory throughout the month. In the model portfolio, overall equity exposure was increased to around 57% by the end of May, from around 54% at the end of April. The equity portfolio underperformed the benchmark in the month of May. The negative stock selections in the material sector were the reasons for such a performance. The market continued to shun cement manufacturers as cement prices and demand remained weak.
